“Those that attended certainly tapped into some of the best thinkers in the country on the topics of coaching, wellness, mindfulness and management development”

Vincent Leonard, LBS Partners.

“I completed the Frontline Managers Programme recently, and after having completed various courses over my career I found this course to be the most thorough, with good examples & techniques that I used after each course day. I highly recommend it for new managers or someone that needs a fresh view on their management style.”

Nicola O’ Connor, O’ Connors.

“GES provides an invaluable opportunity for companies not only to access cost effective training but also to share information and network with other companies in the region. The selection of training courses available has been very broad, allowing us the flexibility to support employees at a greatly reduced cost to the organisation while at the same time addressing critical skill gaps and upskilling our employees with their own development.”

Bernie Turley, HR Manager at Goodman Medical Ireland Limited.
